ABOUT NEAL KATZ

Neal Katz is a semi-retired, successful, serial entrepreneur, CEO with a passion for women rights. His skill as a public speaker and raconteur enables him to engage diverse audiences from feminists, to financial experts, book experts, and spiritual seekers.

Writing the saga of Victoria Woodhull appeals to Neal as an author, because it serves three purposes:

- First, the story provokes public awareness of the historical and continuing degradation and subjugation of gender prejudice.
- Second, the tale exposes the historical basis for the manipulation of the “free markets” of stocks, bonds and commodities.
- Third, the story shows how existing financial and political power structures used prison and seizure of assets to prevent innovation and social change.

Victoria Woodhull overcame all these obstacles in a remarkable life.

Similarly, Neal has had to overcome many of the same trials and tribulations that confronted the sisters, Victoria and Tennessee. He believes in their motto: “Upward & Onward” and personally transforms challenges into positive manifestations. Neal often says, “We have so much more power than we allow ourselves to think. Create the life you want!” Neal chose to write in first person using Victoria’s words, thoughts, and point of view to tell the tale, inviting the reader to see through her eyes. He was directly inspired by Victoria.

Neal has pledged fifty percent (50%) of his author’s royalties from book sales and all ancillary revenues, to a foundation formed in tribute to Victoria Woodhull and her passion for woman rights, or fund a like-minded existing program. The foundation will promote and prove programs based on the Credit Funding concept for the empowerment and sustainable economic improvement of women, especially single mothers. The Foundation’s mission:

Woman Empowerment, Overcoming Adversity, and Hope.

Using his knowledge and skill from the financial markets as a former licensed securities broker, as a business developer, and as an advisor to start-ups, IPOs, and Fortune 100 companies, Neal has conceived and defined a new financial paradigm to create jobs while providing continuous and renewable funding for many charitable endeavors, such as micro-finance, low income housing, vocational training, and infrastructure renewal.
